TWICE ASLEEP.

A child lies sleeping in calm repose,
As sweet and fair as a dewy rose;

Her little white hands are laid at rest
Over her gently heaving breast.

Sunny smiles on her red lips play—
Linger a moment, then pass away.

Forms and faces of earth and air
Flit through her mind as she slumbers there.

Amid the misty and mellow skies,
Their white wings dazzle her dreaming eyes,

Until she wakens in mute dismay
While her fleeting fancies fade away.

She sleeps again—in her last repose;
She lies like a withered and faded rose.

Over her forehead, pale and fair,
Ripple her tresses of golden hair.

Her little white hands are laid at rest
Over her tranquil and lifeless breast.

Her voice is silent, and, come what may,
No smile will gladden her lips of clay;

For the happy dreams she dreamed are through;
How sweet to hope they all came true!

JESSE POMEROY.

A Description of the "Boy Fiend" of Boston.

A correspondent furnishes the Brooklyn Eagle with the following description of Jesse Pomeroy, who was sentenced to be hanged:

I have known Jesse and his father and mother for some time, and am furthermore acquainted with all the facts of the many atrocities perpetrated by the youthful criminal. Jesse's father, up to two years ago, was a porter in a shipping house. He is a rough, big looking man, somewhat morose, but by no means given to vice of any grade. Mrs. Pomeroy is a medium sized woman, of fair education and excellent character, and for some time kept a millinery store in South Boston. Before that they resided in Charleston. Jesse first attended a Methodist and then a Universalist Sunday school, and was a diligent and attentive scholar. His teachers all speak well of him, and there is no record of his ever having been addicted to cruelty in any form until the crimes which brought him into notoriety were discovered.

At the time when Jesse thus became known he was twelve years old. He stood nearly five feet high. His chest was as deep and square as that of a full-grown man. His legs and arms were moulded in symmetry and strength. When he was examined by a medical man, I was present, and but for the testimony of his mother and the official registry of his birth, we should have fixed his age at eighteen or nineteen instead of twelve. His feet and hands were small, his flesh was delicately white, and his muscular developments were perfect. The most remarkable point in his physique was the head. It was a perfect study. It was almost large enough for two boys of his age. The forehead rose straight up nearly four inches, and was of great breadth. The back was nearly in a straight line with the spinal column. The ears, small and clean cut, were low down. The lower jaw was broad and massive. The mouth was wide, and the lips were thin, and formed like a Cupid's bow, the upper being very deep. The nose was somewhat short and broad, and the nostrils were disclosed. The eyebrows were dark, heavy and beetling.

Thr features that attracted most attention were the eyes. The right eye was a pale blue or gray full of intelligence. The left eye was covered with a cataract, and almost perfectly white. This was his distinguishing mark, and but for this defect, Jesse Pomeroy might have been still at liberty furnishing fresh horrors for the public, and new surprises for the police. Jesse's attainments as a scholar were by no means meagre. He was educated at the public schools, and was always diligent. At home he spent his leisure in leading books of travel and adventure and he could converse intelligently, and in a peculidaly winning tone. His voice was low and melodious, and he was a particular favorite with other boys, on account of his gentle manners. He was never known to be rough or boisterous, and always manifested affection for his parents and a disposition to oblige strangers. He was, however, of a retiring disposition, and had very few, if any, playmates of his own age. All of his companions were boys younger than himself.

About one hundred men are at work in the cañon on the Ukiah and Cloverdale road. Another force will be put to work next week near Sanel.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

SATURDAY,.....MARCH 13, 1875.

A NEW daily called the Evening Herald has been started in Sacramento. It is a bright and interesting sheet and looks as though it had both the means and ability to insure success.

IT is reported in San Francisco that the Independent State Central Committee are to furnish SAMUEL SEABOUGH, the long-time editor of the Sacramento Union, with means to start a first-class Independent party daily journal at the Capitol. SEABOUGH has but few equals on this coast or anywhere as a political writer and if he is placed at the head of such a paper as named, the Independents may count on having a powerful organ.

NOTWITHSTANDING the heavy land sales, by which many thousands of acres have in small lots passed into the hands of settlers in this valley during the past few months, the demand for farms seems to be increasing daily. The number of arrivals in this city never was before as great as at the present time, and it is a matter of note that the greater number of the new comers are persons who come to make their homes among us. Our real estate dealers are doing a large and steady business, while the large land companies, Centinela, Artesia and others, are selling at private sale a great deal of the land they expected to dispose of at auction. The population of Los Angeles valley is rapidly increasing and the increase is made up in the main of that substantial class we most need—cultivators of the soil.

AT her State election which occurred on the 9th inst., New Hampshire polled an increase of several thousand votes over that cast at the election of last year. This year the contest between the Democrats and Republicans is so close that there is no choice by the people for Governor. Last year the Democrats elected their candidate for Governor by a handsome majority. This year the increase in the total Republican vote is about 2,000 over the total vote of last year. There is a slight percentage of increase in the Democratic vote, but not more than might have been expected from the change in political sentiment noticeable within the past few months. But the increased Republican vote is mysterious, not to say suspicious. It almost causes one to wonder if the Administration has not been experimenting with the colonization scheme on this the first of the Spring elections.

Centralization of Sound.

This will be a noisy article. Somebody has suggested that one great bell is better for all practical purposes than many small ones. The bell and belfry of the average church makes up a considerable item in the cost of the structure, and yet when the sexton tolls that bell it is only those living in the near vicinity who are told that he is tolling it. The jar to the building consequent on ringing that bell entails a damage to be thought of. Next, the usual hour for service is the same in all churches, therefore one great bell which could be heard miles beyond the corporation limits could call all sects, creeds and denominations to their respective houses of worship. The city needs a bell which may be heard to its remotest corners in order that all may know when there is a blaze on somebody's premises. A systematic plan of ringing this great bell must be agreed upon by which the signal that the devouring element is raging and the fire laddies wanted, or the joyous ringing on a gala day, may be designated from the solemn sound which calls sinners to repentance. The great bell could be placed in position on a frame-work say thirty feet in height and, and a man employed whose business it would be to ring that bell on all occasions in a manner appropriate for those occasions. This one great bell would do the work of many small bells; churches need not incur the expense of bell purchase and belfry building, and we should have a bell the slightest tone of which would warn all within a circuit of miles around that it was time to go to church.

Avoid the City.

It is reported that never before has there been so many poor men and destitute families in San Francisco as at the present time. Hard times and the extreme cold weather in the East have induced many families to seek the Pacific Coast, and a large proportion of these left the place of their nativity with means barely sufficient to pay their way to the Golden State. Now they find themselves in a strange city, among strangers, with little chance for employment and without the wherewith to fight the wolf from the door. If we may trust reports from the East, the tide of immigration westward has just begun to flow. Thousands and thousands of families will land in California within the next six months who have but scant means and but the vaguest idea of where they will settle or by what means they will earn a livelihood. They have heard of the Golden Land, and have read of its rich soil and Summer skies, and they think if they can only reach San Francisco, they will no longer suffer the deprivations of long, cold Winters, nor be subjected to the depredations of the grasshopper scourge. Nor will they; but they will find San Francisco a poor place for poor people. They will find it a poor place for the common laborer. They will find the cost of living high and the landlord inexorable. They will find the shops and kitchens filled with the cheap labor chattle, and they will find no employment for their boys and girls. They will find a hundred labor exchanges, each one of which will take their money and promise, but they will not find them employment. They will find if they try to remain in the city that they had much better have remained at home. There is room in California for thousands, yea millions, of people, and we want them here. It is a country where they can make good livings and comfortable homes—where they can live easier and better and grow rich faster than in the cold, bleak Northwest or the miserable, down-trodden South—but they must not stop in San Francisco. That is the place for mechanics, artisans and professional men, but to families who have lived in the country and devoted their lives to agricultural pursuits we say, do not stop in San Francisco unless you have an abundance of means. This advice holds good with common laborers and all without trade or profession. Get into the country; go out into the broad vallies; go among the foot-hills; go up the mountain side; pitch your tent in the mines, but avoid our one great city if your hands are hard and your purse light.

The Woolen Mill Zanja.

A few days ago the HERALD had an article pointing out the water power advantages which Los Angeles could offer to manufacturers who might desire to establish business here. We still hold that these advantages exist and we are firm in the opinion that their use should, at nominal cost, be placed at the disposal of those who would establish an industry in our city. But when we learn the expense devolving upon the Woolen Mill for the use of one of those water privileges we incline to the opinion that unless the cost is reduced it is not much of a privilege after all. As we are informed the city grants the Woolen Mill the right to use the water on the condition that the Woolen Mill Company maintain the ditch in good repair. This ditch is about ten miles in length and the Woolen Mill owners have found that the expense of keeping the ditch repaired is so great as to involve a loss in running the mill, and consequently the mills have discontinued operations. Let us look at the surrounding facts: Residents of this city living West of Olive street have suffered all Spring and are still suffering for want of water. This is occasioned by the stopping of the mill and the consequent bad condition of the ditch. The Woolen Mill was an enterprise in which the people were greatly interested and it seems a pity that it should be crushed out by the hard conditions imposed by the city authorities on the right to use the water. The citizens residing on this ditch pay the same rate for water that is paid by irrigators on other ditches. The use of the water by the woolen mill does not affect it in quality or quantity, and the city receives from the irrigators the same amount that she would were there no woolen mill on the ditch. The point we wish to make is that it would be better for the city to keep this ditch in repair at her own expense and require a mere nominal rent from the woolen mill for the use of the water, than to impose such conditions on the manufacturers that they are compelled to stop their mill and through the bad condition of the ditch inconvenience and injure irrigators. We suggest to the Council that something be done in the way of remedying what seems to be a damage both to the people who want the water and to the Woolen Mill Company. We ought to encourage manufactories.

WHY should a woman who has once been married always be called Mrs. JONES, while SMITH, who has been muchly married three or four times, is always called Mr. SMITH? Mrs. JONES is a widow—grass or providential—and she can never again play herself off for a maiden, but SMITH, who has buried two wives and divorced the third, moves into an adjoining neighborhood, parts his hair in the middle and sets up for a youth who never in his life promised to love, honor and cherish a woman. It is all right that Mrs. JONES should have a distinctive appellation which prevents imposition, but is it not equally right that the innocent Mr. SMITH should write his name Widower SMITH, in order to prevent any little misunderstanding in regard to his matrimonial status?

Abolishment of the Civil Service Reform.

WASHINGTON, March 10th.—The Departments have issued circulars announcing the abolition of the Civil Service Reform rules governing their respective Departments wherever operative, and announcing the return to the former method of appointment of employés as provided for by section 164 of the Revised Statutes, enacted June 22, 1874, which is that no clerk shall be appointed to any department in either of the four classes unless he has been examined and found qualified by a board of three examiners, to consist of the chief of the bureau or office into which such clerk is to be appointed, and two other clerks, to be selected by the head of the department. All subboards of Civil Service Reform throughout the country are abolished by these orders.

Meeting of Union Pacific Directors.

NEW YORK, March 10th.—The meeting of the Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at Boston today adopted resolutions authorizing the Directors to pay from the surplus earnings dividends at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable quarterly, beginning July, 1875. Also, authorizing the Directors to consummate a plan proposing the payment into the United States Treasury of a fixed sum to form a sinking fund to pay the Government debt and interest in lieu of all demands of the Government upon the company.

Chairmanships of Senate Standing Committees.

WASHINGTON, March 9th.—In the Senate Standing Committees the following changes are made in Chairmanships: Conkling, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, in place of Chandler; Hamlin, Postoffice and Post-roads, in place of Ramsay; Oglesby, Public Lands, in place of Sprague; Ingalls, Pensions, in place of Boreman; West, Railroads, in place of Stewart; Sargent, Mines and Mining, in place of Hamlin; Boutwell, Revision of Laws, in place of Conkling; Patterson, Education and Labor, in place of Flanigan; Clayton, Civil Service Retrenchment in place of Wright. Two committees are given to the Democrats, Thurman being Chairman of that on Private Land Claims, and Stevenson of that on Revolutionary Claims.

A New Style of Party.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 11.—Some sixty delegates from twelve different States assembled here to-day, with a view of forming an Independent party based upon an exclusive greenback system, as regards financial policy. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed and the Convention adjourned till to-morrow.

Louisiana Matters.

NEW YORK, March 11th.—The Louisiana Investigating Committee met to-day, but in consequence of the absence of Frye and Hoar and the non-arrival of documents from New Orleans, it adjourned without action.

Civil Rights in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, March 9th.—The Civil Rights bill was practically illustrated at the St. Charles Theatre to-night, where State Senator Steel and other colored friends occupied seats in the parquette to witness Davenport in Sir Giles Overreach. There was no excitement.

Defeat of Bishop DeKoven.

CHICAGO, March 10th.—The defeat of Dr. DeKoven, Bishop elect of Illinois, by the Standing Committees of the various dioceses, appears now certain. Of the committees heard from, eighteen refuse to assent to his confimation, it is not thought possible he can secure a sufficient number of the eighteen yet to be heard from to confirm his election.

From Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, March 8th.—There have been published in this city for the last thirty days incessant attacks upon Governor Axtell, the newly appointed Governor, who has been in the Territory about that length of time. Also, charges have been telegraphed to the press in regard to him, which he asserts are false in every particular.

A Train Collision.

OGDEN, March 11th.—The Central Pacific passenger train ran into an emigrant train at Monument about 3 o'clock this morning, damaging the engine and caboose and throwing one emigrant car off the track. No one was seriously hurt. The cause of the accident was that the passenger train was ahead of time and the emigrant train broke into while taking a side track.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

SATURDAY,.....MARCH 13, 1875.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Yesterday was unusually quiet.

There is talk of building a large hotel at Anaheim.

The Orizaba is due at Wilmington next Monday.

The Kalorama, bringing freight, will arrive at Wilmington to-morrow.

Another "New England breakfast" at the Backman House Sunday morning.

A mule tried his speed and bottom in a runaway down Main street yesday. No damage.

Downey shipped yesterday 73 sacks meal, 80 sacks cracked corn and 441 sacks corn.

Don't forget the ball to be given on the evening of the 17th—St. Patrick's Day. It will be the affair of the season.

J. M. Baldwin has a choice lot 60x 165 feet, on the line of the Spring and Sixth Street Railway, which $800 will buy.

It is reported that Col. Peel is doing good work in canvassing for the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad in and around Anaheim.

The San Diego Union complains of irregularity in receiving the Los Angeles exchanges. We must confess to a similar annoyance on our part, and commend the subject to the consideration of the proper authorities.

County Superintendent Peck informs us that the amount of the State school moneys apportioned to this county is $49,440 56; and that $248 55 will be apportioned to each of the ninety census teachers. The pro rata to each child will be $3 90.

Vasquez has been interviewed again. He is cheerful in conversation. He says he does not hope for executive clemency. He spoke of the number of young ladies who had visited him, and said, laughingly, that if they had been on his jury he would have been acquitted.

The iron for the Main Street and Agricultural Park Railroad Company has arrived at Wilmington, and the vessel having the ties on board is now due. As soon as the material can be forwarded from Wilmington the work of grading and laying the rails will be inaugurated.

We had a call yesterday from Mr. D. Ghirardelli, one of the oldest established and foremost merchants of San Francisco. Mr. G. has an extensive chocolate, charters coffee and spice manufactory which dates its establishment back to 1852. An advertisement of the house appears in another column.

A horse attached to a buggy standing on Spring street yesterday morning, became frightened at something and made an attempt to get up a runaway. He was caught before going far, but in the meantime had succeeded in kicking the dashboard from the buggy. The rig was the property of Mr. Morsch.

Miss Jennie Leys' last lectures will be given at Merced Theatre Sunday afternoon and evening at 2 and 7:30 o'clock. Subject for afternoon, "The True Future of Spiritualism." Subject for evening, "Pre-natal Rights of Children." A collection will be taken at the close of each lecture for Miss Leys' benefit.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of T. W. Stackpole, dealer in watches and jewelry, in to-day's paper. Mr. Stackpole comes to us highly recommended as one thoroughly skilled in his business, and as he is to make a permanent home in this city we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

The Belmont, Nevada, Courier says: "The Los Angeles papers have an eye on the trade from this section of the country. They propose to give us railroad facilities to tide water, through that city, before a great length of time elapses. On the completion of the Independence road, either the same or another company will doubtless continue on towards Utah.

The New Italy says: It turns out that the man who wrote that he could bring a colony of twenty persons to California has a family of eighteen children, all living at home. All right, come along. Our schools are equal to any State in the Union, and no portion of Uncle Samuel's domain offers better facilities for rearing large families.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Dr. Hobbs' Private Health Establishment, which appears this morning. The Doctor proposes to supplement our advantages of climate for invalids with comforts and attention of a home and the use of the magnetic sun-bath. The establishment is on Alameda street, a short distance below the depot.

Our Fruits—Can we Afford to Eat Them?

Complaints are frequently made by visitors to Los Angeles that they are required to pay exorbitant prices for fruits and other productions of our section, when purchasing them in small quantities on the street. There is much justice in the protests thus entered. If one wishes a half-dozen oranges, he must pay as much for them to the keeper of a fruit stand here, as he could buy them for in San Francisco or New York. And yet oranges are raised here and shipped by the hundreds of thousands. The vendor buys them at 25 cents per dozen and sells them at 75 cents, or he pays 15 cents for a poorer quality and sells at 50 cents. Thus he makes some two or three hundred per cent. profit — a very fair margin on a class of fruits which cannot be considered perishable. The same exhorbitant prices cover all our semi-tropical fruits and nuts. Why does this state of affairs exist? Is it because a number of grasping vendors have a corner on the market and skilfully maintain it? Such must be the case. Our groceries and provisions, our furniture, our hardware—everything which is imported is sold at retail at little above the ruling prices of San Francisco or the East. A visitor who steps out upon the street and buys a few oranges on which he pays two or three hundred per cent. profit, concludes that Los Angeles is a place of magnificent charges. He packs up his trunk, perhaps, and moves on. We need twenty-five or more live Yankee boys to establish fruit stands on every alternate corner along our main streets and "bear" the market. Let us have fruits sold from door to door in carts or peddled in baskets by enterprising boys and girls. Then we can eat the productions of our own section at a reasonable price. We can have the best also, instead of the refuse now given us, culled from shipments to our neighbors who are fortunate enough to live where semi-tropical fruits do not grow.

His Room Better than His Company.

Some time since a correspondent of the New York Herald visited Santa Barbara and gave a description of our fair up-country neighbor which was far from complimentary. The letter, which occupied something over two colums in the Herald, we read carefully, and we think without prejudice. It was, to say the least, very unjust in almost every proposition. It depreciated every advantage and magnified every disadvantage which the country might possess. It was one of those mean, underhanded expressions of spleen which differed as much from a fair, generous criticism as the writer differs from a gentleman. This individual is now in San Diego and one of the papers at that place gives him a warm reception after this fashion:

What will become of us now? A would-be newspaper aspirant has landed in our midst, claiming to be an imp of the New York Herald. Will the boss of that powerful metropolitan sheet call his "Tige" away? The fact that he has been imported into our midst by dint of begging free passes from transportation companies and signing his name on hotel registers as "special, etc.," is sufficient to stamp him as a relic of by-gone times in the judgment of all intelligent men. Newspaper men who travel in this shape are "dead beats" from A to Z, and are not countenanced by the craft. God be praised when we shall hear no more of them!

In course of time we shall doubtless see another of these splenetic communications in the New York Herald, which will make San Diego gnash her teeth with rage. And then this Mr. Wormwood will probably pack up his valise put the bricks back into his trunk and start for Los Angeles. He will no doubt lavish a full measure of venom upon our city, doubly distilled, as death loves a shining mark, and dead beats are equally capricious. At all times we invite an expression of truth regarding Los Angeles. We will kindly receive criticism and even endure misrepresentation; but should the man throw himself upon our hospitality and wilfully belie us, we will not answer for the Christian forbearance which he may receive. Making one's exit from a city on the ragged edge of a three-cornered rail to the tune of the "Rogue's March," would hardly be pleasant under the most favorable circumstances. We charge nothing for this suggestion to our San Diego neighbors and promise nothing to this Mr. Wormwood should he conclude to pay us a visit.

A portion of the thirty-five acres adjoining the residence of Judge King, owned by the Episcopal Church, is to be subdivided and sold in lots. The proceeds will be applied to making needed improvements about the church building on Temple street. Some ten acres of the tract will be reserved, upon which to erect a denominational school building. This will place in the market some of the choicest building lots to be found in the city.

Mr. Temple's crack team of farm horses hitched to a buggy stood in front of the Palace Saloon yesterday after noon, and were objects of general interest. The two stallions are four and five years old respectively, and their aggregate weight is 2,960 pounds. The animals appeared in good flesh although they were not so heavy, the exhibition of bone and sinew, however, was something astonishing, and altogether, we have never seen better specimens of heavy draft horses.

Letter From California.

[From the Danville, Illinois, Commercial.]

LOS ANGELES, Cal, Jan. 30, '75.

DEAR OLD COMMERCIAL: An ever welcome visitor as you are to me, and have been since I left Danville, yet I have never written you a line since my arrival in California. I have thought many times of doing so, but business and other correspondence seemed always to demand my time, besides I have seen an occasional letter from this place to you, written by the able pen of Judge Clapp, and more recently from S. P. Smith, both formerly of Danville. Having traveled through the Golden State with a view of settling permanently, I have been a careful observer throughout; but found no place which suited me in every respect, as did this place. The mildness of the climate, and the productiveness of the soil, it seeming to be adapted to raising every kind of produce, both Northern and semi-tropical; besides the rapid growth of the city, the increase of railroad facilities, and the vast tide of emigration, all so plainly speaking the future destiny of the place. It also being the metropolis of Southern California, what more need one ask to insure a good business?

I have lived here for one year and a half, and the improvements of the city are really wonderful. There are many facts, which would, no doubt, interest many of your readers, pertaining to this quaint city "The Queen of the Angels," founded nearly one hundred years ago, and presents to this day, to a stranger, the charm of antiquity with its crooked streets and queer adobe buildings, scattered here and there. These, however, do not lessen the attractions. The streets are being graded, and the sidewalks are nearly made. Also, we boast of our two and three story buildings which we have without number. The city itself occupies an area of about six miles, and embraces, within its limits, a grand and beautiful view of hill and plain. From my window I look upon the hills clothed in green, and beyond are the Sierra Madre mountains, with their lofty snow-capped peaks. What a contrast! Were is not that it would seem too much like fairy lands, I would say we gathered flowers with one hand, and, at the same time, snowballs with the other. I may say distinctly that we have no Winter here. When we speak of wandering through orange groves, bending beneath their yellow burden; or inhaling their balmy, delicious atmosphere; of the beautiful eucalyptus and pepper tree with the lemon and pomegranite—in fact, one vast tropical orchard, while the gardens, teeming with every variety of the flowery kingdom, fills the air with their incomparable odors; does it sound like Winter? of the dreary, leafless days that you are enjoying, or enduring, at this time. Ah! I have spent too many days in your icy clime to be ignorant of what Winter means, and can but soliloquize, ugh! I don't want to be there. It is cold enough here to make a fire pleasant and a light overcoat comfortable, and we have as glorious an atmosphere, as much enjoyment, as many pleasant sights as though it were June. Some of our Eastern friends, I believe, erroneously imagine that our Winters are made up of rainy days; but if they will stop and think that we do not see a drop of rain from March until December, they will readily see that rain would be hailed with great delight. However, I will correct that error by saying that our Winters are far from being rainy ones. It rains for a few days, then the sun shines its warmest and brightest, and the mud dries up as if by magic—the soil being very sandy, we have but little mud. It is then, if ever, that the ladies all seem to be of one mind, that is to get the full benefit of clean streets, for it must be remembered that where no rain descends for nine months, there must consequently be some dust. Some seem bent on shopping, others, regaled in all the fashions of the day, are making calls, while the greater number, with hosts of children, have gathered on the hill which looks—from a distance—as if it were suddenly changed into a grand park; everything is glorious and full of life after a rain. The rains this year are later than usual, also heavier, causing in some parts fearful damages. Marysville, in the Northern part of the State, has suffered heavy loss, owing to defects in the levee. Large contributions are being sent every day, which will partly alleviats the sufferings of the poor. I learn through your columns that several of the Danville boys contemplate a tour through California, this Winter. That is right; come in the Winter and save yourselves from all the cold blasts that you can. Do not return without seeing semi-tropical California. No one could see it and breathe its invigorating air without being charmed —especially in Winter. In summer the heat is tempered by a cool seabreeze, and the nights are invariably cool—just cool enough to require a blanket on the bed—insuring perfect rest and sweet slumber to all.

Our churches and schools are well worthy of mention, for of these, a stranger who contemplates settling here, with a large family, will first inquire. The Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregationalist and Episcopalians, occupy neat and commodious buildings, while the Baptist, which is more recently organized, occupies for the present the Good Templars' Hall. The Southern Methodist congregation will soon erect a place of worship, which is to cost $50,000. The Hegrew Synagogue is one of the showiest buildings in the city. The Public High School, under the superintendence of Wm. T. Lucky, is, in every respect, what one would expect to find in much larger cities; it being fitted with all the modern appliances, and the Superintendent being a gentleman of over thirty years experience in teaching, is enough assurance that it can receive the most advanced students. Los Angeles also boasts of a public library containing over 1,800 volumes, and is one of the chief attractions to tourists; a chess-room is connected with it which is also used as a smoking and conversation room.

I will not "spin my yarn" to a more tiresome length, which I might do by speaking of our sea-side resorts etc. Come all ye Danvilleites and see for yourselves. E. E. F.

Ex-Congressmen Clamoring for Offices.

WASHINGTON, March 10th.—Large numbers of Senators and ex-members of the House called on the President to-day. Several ex-members wanted the President to provide them with offices, but they received little or no encouragement. Only a few nominations will be sent to the Senate, and were it not for the Pinchbeck question, the Senate could adjourn within a week.

"The Central" is to be the name of the new hotel now in course of erection at Hollister.

WASHINGTON, March 9th.—A caucus of the Republican Senators to-day chose Ferry of Connecticut President of the Senate pro tem., and on the meeting of the Senate he was elected, receiving 39 votes to 25 for Thurman. The caucus also approved the report of the Committee on Revision of the Standing Committees.

ARTESIA.

SECOND SALE!

2,000 ACRES.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday,

April 6th, 7th and 8th, 1875.

The Directors of the Los Angeles Immigration and Land Co-operative Association would announce that at their late sales over 1,000 acres of land was sold; the greater part of which went to actual settlers who will improve the same at once.

Desirous of disposing of the remaining lands—nearly 2,000 acres—in order to make the settlement as strong as possible, and at the same time give the Association an opportunity to subdivide other ranches, the managers now offer at Public Auction, the remaining lands, on the 6th, 7th and 8th of April, 1875, when the purchaser will be allowed to take the lands in parcels to suit

At their own Figures. The entire tract will be sold without reserve.

A Public School building, to cost over $4,000 is now being erected and will be completed before the second sale. The percentage of the last sale devoted to the erection of this building amounted to over $2,000, and the same percentage (10 per cent. on town property and 2½ per cent. on farm property) will be given for the same purpose from the proceeds of the next sale.

Soil.

The soil is of a rich sandy loam and free from alkali. There are two or three small pieces of alkali ground on the tract, but they will be pointed out to purchasers so that they may know what they are buying. The character of the soil is more like the warm mesa lands of the country, than the low, damp corn lands.

Semi-Tropical Fruits

Will there find a combination of soil, climate and water well adapted to their rapid growth. These lands are not entirely free from frosts, but the cold is not severe enough to injure the growth of semi-tropical fruit trees, and rarely does any damage, except to the most tender vegetation.

Water.

The great desideratum of Southern California, without which the richest land is converted into a desert, and with it the desert is converted into a garden, is here easily obtained in great abundance. Surface water is found at a depth of ten or fifteen feet, and

Flowing Artesian Wells

Can be readily and SURELY obtained at a depth of from one hundred and thirty to two hundred feet. There are many flowing wells in the immediate vicinity, and within the artesian belt no failure to get flowing water has ever occurred. Responsible parties propose to sink artesian wells everywhere on the tract and guarantee water or make no charge therefor. The town of

ARTESIA

Has been laid out on the township line three miles South and three-quarters of a mile West of Norwalk Station. A quarter-section of land is included within the town plat. It is the intention to make this town the center of one of the richest farming communities in Los Angeles county. At the last sale, town lots sold for from $60 to $161 each, and many have since changed hands at advanced figures.

Arrangements are now being made for the establishment of a Methodist Episcopal Church, and the erection of a house of worship.

A lot will be given to any Church or Society that will erect thereon a buildiag for public use.

PUBLIC SALE.

These lands will be offered at Public Auction on

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY,
April 6th, 7th and 8th, 1875,

Thus affording settlers an opportunity to procure homes at THEIR OWN FIGURES.

TERMS.

The terms of sale are as follows: FIFTEEN PER CENT. down, TEN PER CENT. in six months, TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. in one year, TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. in two years, and TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. in three years. One per cent. per month interest will be charged on all deferred payments.

J. E. McComas will be on the grounds daily to show the land to those who desire to examine the same up to the day of the sale.

During the sale free transportation will be furnished those in attendance, from the cars to the lands and return, and reduced fare for the round trip will be secured on the railroad from Los Angeles and return.

TEMPERANCE.

Believing that the sale and consumption of spirituous and malt liquors in the settlement would be productive of much evil continually, and no good, the Association will insert a clause in all deeds prohibiting forever the sale of intoxicating drinks, as a beverage, on the lands sold.

Plats of the lands and further information can be had by calling at the office of the Association, 1½ SPRING STREET, LOS ANGELES.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

SATURDAY, ... MARCH 13, 1875.

Golden Words.

The San Bernardino Guardian of the 11th inst. has the following sensible editorial:

The counties of Southern California—Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego especially—should co-operate heartily for the common good. Sectional jealousy is almost as contemptible as domestic jealousy; particularly when there is hardly anything to be jealous about. It was the fashion some time since to set up an imaginary antagonism between Los Angeles and San Diego, just as it has been the fashion among a few fossils in Los Angeles and San Bernardino to cultivate an imaginary rivalry and a real ill-feeling between the two latter counties. Now, after all, there is no real rivalry, either in the present or prospective, possible between Los Angeles and San Diego. Nature made Los Angeles a commercial center—in short, the commercial center of our extensive country—rich in minerals, rich in soil, and teemingly productive in the precious articles of commerce. Geographically, Los Angeles, with her incomparably rich back country, must become a great city. True, she has not nearly so good a harbor as San Diego, but it is equally true that she has immense advantages in her magnificent valley, fertile hills, and dependent back country, which San Diego can never hope to possess, had she Scott's Texas and Pacific terminus located next door to the Horton House to-morrow. Los Angeles has no need to dread San Diego; San Diego would exhibit a sad want of sense were she to set up in opposition to Los Angeles. Again, San Diego with her immediate resources and prospective railway advantages, has every reason to anticpate a period of progress and prosperity. True, she cannot build up a southern San Francisco, a la Aladdin, as she once fondly indulged sanguine hopes of doing; but she can become a flourishing commercial town, gradually and surely. The prosperity of her great Northern neighbor, Los Angeles, will not at all retard the growth of San Diego; on the contrary, it will tend to increase it.

As to San Bernardino, although it is more intimately, by geographical proximity and commercial intercourse, connected with Los Angeles; although it must, by the inexorable fiats of geography, commerce and railway, continue an ally of Los Angeles, yet its rapid growth will in a measure stimulate a similar progress in San Diego. Each of the three counties has its peculiar recommendation, but let any two of them take on a rapid growth, and the third must be more or less benefited. Let us not disparage each other then. Let us work, first for our respective counties, next for Southern California, especially for the Southern-Southern California. The Guardian has of late faithfully adhered to this course of policy, and we are glad to see that we are effecting a great deal of good, especially in conjunction with the liberal press of Los Angeles, in bringing about a cordial feeling between Los Angeles and San Bernardino. Apropos of all this dissertation, we reproduce the following from an admirable article in the San Diego Union of the 6th inst. They are golden words and deserve reproduction in every paper in the three counties. Says the Union:

"The citizens of San Diego have indeed reason to be sensitive to the attacks which have been leveled against them from the very beginning of the existence of their city by San Francisco in particular and other points in less degree. In plain language, they don't like to be lied about; and we don't know any people who are not sensitive in this regard. But, as to envy or fear in view of the growth of Los Angeles, San Bernardino or other points in Southern California, we can affirm that no such foolish feelings exist. On the contrary, San Diego views with the liveliest gratification the large accessions of population to the adjacent counties and the rapid development of their great resources. We regard the advance of our neighbors as directly contributing to the prosperity of San Diego, with which those flourishing communities will so soon be connected by railroad. We should rejoice if 50,000 people could be settled around Los Angeles before the end of the present year. The more producers brought into Southern California, the more rapid the growth of the commercial center and distributing point of the great region stretching from Point Conception away beyond the Colorado to the Eastern boundary of Arizona. San Diego welcomes immigration to any quarter of this wide territory."

These words have the right ring to them. There is certainly no sectional jealousy there. Build up the whole country, and the towns will regulate their population and business capacity. If Los Angeles advances rapidly, San Diego is benefited; so is San Bernardino. The people will go to whatever section suits them; county rivalry is despicable.

Early Rising Made Easy.

"My old friend, Rossiter," says a writer, "fixed his alarum so that at the foreordained moment the bedclothes were draggad from the bed, and Rossiter lay shivering.

"I have myself somewhere the drawings and specifications for a patent—which I never applied for—which arranges a set of cams and wheelworks under the bedstead, which at the appointed moment lifts the pillow end six feet and delivers the sleeper on his feet on the now horizontal footboard. He was not apt to sleep long after that. Rossiter found another contrivance which worked better. The alarum clock struck a match which lighted the lamp which boiled the water for Rossiter's shaving. If Rossiter stayed in bed too long, the water boiled over upon his razor and clean shirt and prayer-book his mother gave him, and Coleridge's autograph, and his open pocket-book and all other precious things he could put in a basin underneath when he went to bed; so he had to get up before that moment came."

The Elder Lo Hands in His Checks.

SANTA CRUZ, March 11th.—Justiano Roxas, an Indian, said to have been 123 years old, died last night. The Old Mission records place his baptism in March, 1792, when he was supposed to be fully 40 years old. His funeral will take place to-morrow. The body lies in state at the Catholic school building, where people are paying their last respects to the deceased.

Parties in Merced intend to start a new bank.

Death of an Army Surgeon.

PORTLAND, Oregon, March 9th.—Dr. Wiggin, Assistant-Surgeon, U. S. A., at Fort Stevens, was found dead in his bed at that place on Sunday morning last. It is supposed he died from an over-dose of chloral-hydrate.

Body Found in the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12th.—The body of a drowned man was found in the bay yesterday. It has been recognized as that of George Gray, a seaman on board H. B. M.'s ship Tenedos, recently in the harbor. Deceased deserted the ship and in swimming ashore was drowned.

John Mitchel Twice Elected.

CORK, March 11th.—The Parliamentary election passed off quietly today. About one-third of the constituency, including the Roman Catholic clergy and leading tradesmen, took no part in it. The counting is not completed, but is estimated that John Mitchel has a majority of one thousand.

Private Health Establishemnt.

Dr. HOBBS,

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS PROPRIETOR and chief pysician of a health establishment, has been induced by the urgent solicitation of numerous invalids and others to open a health establishment at Los Angeles, where all diseases will be treated under his own immediate superintendance. The situation is pleasant and airy and will be found to combine the advantages of a Mansion de Sante, the comforts of home, and, with other remedial appliances, a powerful sun-bath, possessing a magnetic influence on the system.

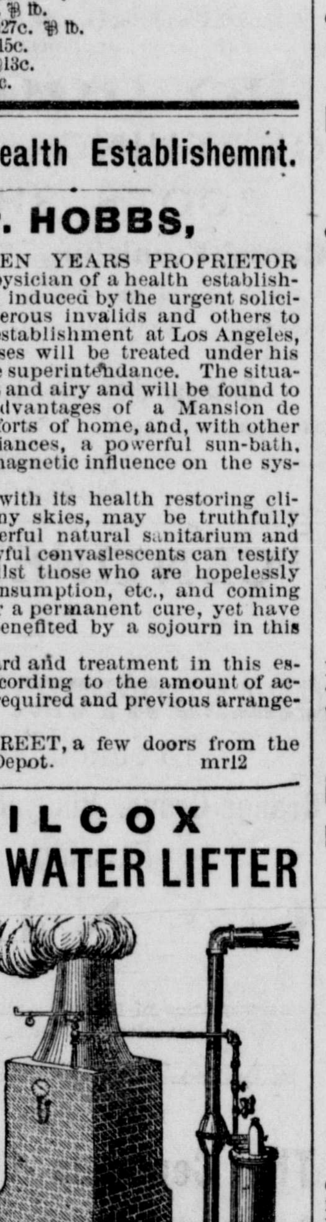

Los Angeles, with its health restoring climate and sunny skies, may be truthfully termed a wonderful natural sanitarium and hundreds of joyful convalescents can testify to this fact, whilst those who are hopelessly diseased by consumption, etc., and coming here too late for a permanent cure, yet have been greatly benefited by a sojourn in this climate.

Terms for board and treatment in this establishment according to the amount of accommodation required and previous arrangement.

Notice of Intention.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE city of Los Angeles intends making the following improvement on Temple street, from its junction with Spring and Main streets to and including its intersection with Fort street:

Said Temple street shall be graded in the following manner: The roadbed shall be prepared by cutting down or filling up to a sub grade eight inches below the established grade along the center line of the street and in such manner as to give it a slope of one foot in 30 towards the gutters. The roadbed having been prepared along the whole of one block and having been accepted by the City Surveyor, the contractor shall surface the same with cement gravel to the depth of 8 inches.

The gutters shall be 4 feet wide and paved with granite cobble stones 8 in. long; the center of the gutter shall be 19 inches and the sides shall be 7 inches below the top of the sidewalk, thus giving it a concave shape; the whole to be thoroughly set in sand and to be well rammed.

The curb shall be of 3x12 redwood, spiked to posts of redwood 4x4 and three feet long, set in the ground 2 feet and the inside of the curb: said posts to be 4 feet apart; the top of the curb to be placed 2 inches below the established grade.

The sidewalks shall be 8 feet wide and filled in or cut down to within two inches of the established grade, as may be necessary, and shall then be covered with planking 2 inches thick spiked to longitudinal sleepers 3x4 (distant 4 and 8 feet from outer edge of curb) and to the curb. Or the sidewalk may be made of brick covered with one inch of asphaltum, if the property-holder should so prefer.

The gutters shall be continued along the junction of Buena Vista and Temple and along the intersections of New High and Temple and of Temple and Fort streets.

The work to commence at the lower end of Temple street and to be prosecuted only upon one block at a time. mr10 10t
